January 28, 2014

AUMC is hosting a Stop Hunger Now meal packaging event on Saturday, Feb. 15, from 8:45 a.m. until noon in Wright Hall. Everyone is encouraged to attend and participate! Stop Hunger Now aims to end hunger by packaging and distributing meals all over the world and has been fulfilling its commitment to end hunger across the globe for more than 14 years.

Established in 1998, Stop Hunger Now coordinates the distribution of food and other life-saving aid to crisis-burdened areas around the world. What distinguishes Stop Hunger Now from other aid/relief organizations that also supply food and in-kind aid is the focus on engaging volunteers in a hands-on activity to produce meals that are used strategically to support development programs, while at the same time fostering the growth of a movement to end hunger by educating volunteers about the need and giving them an opportunity to take action. Stop Hunger Now distributes its meals through feeding programs operated by partner organizations in developing countries which promote education, encourage children to attend school, improve the health and nutrition of students, address gender inequalities, spur economic growth, combat child labor, and create a platform for tackling global issues. In addition to supporting school feeding programs, Stop Hunger Now also provides meals in response to crisis relief.

The organization has perfected a low cost, (25 cents per meal) highly nutritious meal of dehydrated rice and soy meal that can be easily shipped and stored. This is a church-wide event and we need many hands to help make this a success! Youth can earn community service hours, too.

2013 Annandale UMC Foundation Report

The Annandale United Methodist Church Foundation continued to provide significant financial support in 2013 to Annandale UMC ministry programs and other programs serving our community. The Foundation is a separate nonprofit organization from the church which receives and administers gifts to fund future ministry and other charitable programs. As of Dec. 31, 2013, the Foundation portfolio included approximately $1.7 million. Most of these funds were received through bequests stipulating the purpose of the gift and that only earnings be available for use each year, preserving the principal for the future. Other special gifts and memorial gifts are also managed by the Foundation.

In previous years, earnings and disbursements from the Foundation helped cover costs for tree removal, air conditioning and heating repairs, parsonage upgrades and renovations, the new electronic church sign, and many other ministry needs that were not covered by the annual church budget. In 2013 the Foundation Board disbursed approximately $65,000 based on requests from program ministry areas and other entities in accordance with donor stipulations. This amount included funds for website upgrades, microphone upgrades, the August Church Council Retreat, new choir robes, the Culmore Clinic, Boy Scout Troop #150, a loan to cover up-front costs for the production of The Wizard of Oz by our Music Ministry, and other ministry support. In addition, the Foundation is providing $50,000 for the renovation of the air-conditioning system near the Media Center (room 111) in early 2014.

The Blessing of Failure

We know that all things work together for good for those who love God, who are called according to his purpose.

- Romans 8:28

Dear Friends,

We will soon conclude our four-part sermon series on Living with Passion and Purpose. Last month, I gave a sermon on remembering our baptism and living "on fire" through the power of the Holy Spirit. My colleague, Pastor Eduardo, invited us to "Come and See" how God is calling us to be in ministry in our community. Pastor Clarence encouraged us to find our BHAG (Big Hairy Audacious God-purpose). We have also discussed the importance of writing a personal mission statement to serve as a reminder of our purpose. We are now ready to live with passion and purpose, right?

Perhaps. This Sunday, we will turn to a common question that keeps many people from living their life purpose: what if I fail?

Well, what if you fail? There is an inherent risk in stepping out of one's comfort zone and trying something new. Things may not work out as you had hoped. Failure is a real possibility. Thus, the fear of failure is a vivid and at times paralyzing experience for many people. But what if failure isn't the worst thing that could happen? What if failure could be, contrary to our perception, a blessing?

Many people have spoken of failure as a part of the journey on the road to success. Thomas Edison, after thousands of failed attempts to invent the light bulb, famously said, "I have not failed. I've just found 10,000 ways that won't work." Similarly, C.S. Lewis has said, "Failures are finger posts on the road to achievement."

Failure can be a difficult, even traumatic experience when it occurs. But often, failure can be re-conceptualized as an opportunity to learn, grow, and gain insights on what is necessary to succeed. Failure, when overcome by perseverance, can be a mere pit stop on the road to success.

There is something worse than failure: never trying, never taking the risk, never taking the step of faith necessary to live with passion and purpose.

For this Sunday's sermon, I will discuss how failure, vulnerability, and even weaknesses can provide as much insight into our purpose as our successes and our strengths. Perhaps then we will be truly ready to take a leap of faith and live with passion and purpose.

See you Sunday!

Cynthia

The Annandale UMC Foundation provides an opportunity to plant seeds today that will germinate continuously into the future for those who succeed us. Gifts of cash or securities, above and beyond your support of the annual operating budget, are encouraged. In addition, planned gifts through bequests, life insurance, and life income plans, are attractive ways for many donors to “continue giving” into the future. These types of gifts should be planned with a financial advisor or attorney. The Annandale UMC Foundation Board of Directors has developed a flexible structure that allows the donor to fund a variety of ministry programs. If you have any questions about the AUMC Foundation, please contact Bill Iwig, President of the Board of Directors, at 301-365-7532.
