The Fruit of the Spirit

We here at AUMC are moving in exciting ways to pursue the mission of making disciples of Jesus Christ for the transformation of the world. Through our discernment process we have some targeted priorities, and have summed our efforts up in three words: Connect, Grow, Serve.

The first of our targeted priorities is that we all find ways to grow in our own discipleship; after all, it takes disciples to make disciples. The evidence of our connection to God, our growth through worship and study, is how we express the love of God to the world.

Love is indeed at the center of it all, because God is love. To highlight how these expressions are experienced, your clergy staff is preparing a sermon series on the Fruit of the Spirit. This "fruit" is to be found in Galatians 5:22, and is singular in the Greek, with nine attributes: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control. These attributes, Paul writes, are in contrast to the way the world would have us live out our lives, and make our witness an invitation to a holy alternative community of love. Love begins it. Love sustains it. Love concludes it.

A New Fruit Salad

For many this season, each day is like the first day of school all over again. The alarm goes off at 6:00 a.m., but you make the mistake to hit the snooze button one too many times. Now the plans you had to enjoy peace and quiet before the chaos has become a race against the clock. You wake up the children and rush them into the car with a to-go breakfast. As you (safely) drive a little too close to other cars, fabricating a whole new sign language, you ask your children: where are your lunch bags? Now you have to drop them at school and go back home to grab their lunches. Sound familiar?

At times, new beginnings do not sound very exciting or all that new. We tend to go back and continue the way we operated the last time around, racing against the clock.

The sermon series "Fruit of the Spirit" is not something new either, and some will say it's not very exciting. But, as I reflected on the fruit of the spirit in the body of Christ (that means all y'all), a basket of fruit with oranges, a pineapple, cherries, bananas, and many other fruits came to mind. These are everyday fruits—nothing new or special. But when they come together, they make a terrific fruit salad.

On Connect Sunday, we talked about how important it is to journey with God as one body. Just imagine what fruits our church would bear if we, too, were deeply connected and nourished together. Stop hitting the snooze button and come join the body of Christ on Sunday as we bring our first fruits to God.

AUMC'S Earth & Spirit Group is sharing information about procuring solar power. Ever thought about solar-generated electricity for your home to help the earth and reduce energy costs? A co-op was formed in support of residential solar power, comprised of the Greater Washington Interfaith Power and Light, known by AUMC's Earth & Spirit Group; the Community Power Network (a professional not-for-profit that forms and encourages solar-seeking co-ops); and Virginia Sun – Citizens for Solar (a network of solar power supporters). Co-op benefits may include: 1) The co-op will obtain a lower price for a larger number of installations; 2) the Community Power Network has successful experience with over ten regional co-ops; and 3) GWIPL has assisted several churches with solar power.
